BATTED OUT ANOTHER

Phillips Effective While Killeen Was Easy-Seven Straight for Indianapolis-Other Games.

The Indianapolis team was badly broken up yesterday by the absence of Frank Motz, who was called to his home in Akron by the death of a sister. He will not return this season, and the club will be somewhat handicapped in the few remaining games by reason of this unfortunate circumstance. Henry played first yesterday, but was not a brilliant success there, dropping one throw and letting another get over his head into the bleachers. This last one was high, but Motz had a pleasant habit of pulling that sort down. Fred Schaub took Henry's place in right field, and, while he had no chances out there, he kept his end up with the stick, getting a single and a triple and reaching first twice on balls. He scored four of the Indianapolis runs himself and batted in two others, so on the whole he was a decided success. Motz's absence was more especially felt in the field, as has been shown. There was an apparent lack of confidence in that respect, which will probably wear off by to-day, after having won a game under the new order of things. Phillips was strong all through the game, and the visitors earned but two runs off him. The other seven were gifts, but Indianapolis was so far ahead all through that the errors did not create the havoc they would otherwise have done. Westlake's catch of a foul fly after a long run and Roat's end of a double play in the third inning were the fielding features. After that the Indianapolis shortstop was considerably off in his play. McCarthy and Genins had several pretty catches. The batting of Mills, Henry and Phillips was especially heavy and for the most part, yesterday, with even worse judgment than they exhibited on Wednesday. It was only their continued tremendous hitting that caused this fact Mr. George Lemcke will leave next week | to be practically lost sight of. In a close game such base running would be looked back to with regret for many a day, if the victory happened to go to the other fellows. Phillips began it in the fifth inning, when he tried to score from second on Westlake's single, and was thrown out very easily at the plate by Genins. Westlake followed in the same inning by running into O'Rourke's arms in an effort to get from second to third after Hogriever had caught Roat's fly. Then Mills, who was caught on the line between third and home on Shields's grounder in the seventh inning, might have scored had he run on at one stage during the chase instead of stopping, as Krauss dropped the ball, but picked it up again in time. Mills also failed in the seventh inning to throw to the plate on Genins, who was thus enabled to score on what otherwise would have been an out. With all that, Mills, Westlake, Phillips and most all the players are entitled to much credit for pounding away at the ball and putting the game out of reach of their hustling opponents. Missed oppor-tunities are not given much thought of if the game is won all right.

Indianapolis scored one in the first when,

The Indianapolis players ran the bases, with McCarthy out, Henry hit to right for a single, stole second, reached third on Krauss's overthrow and came in on Phillips's single to center. Gray flew to Holo-han and Mills to McCauley. No more runs were scored until the fourth inning, when, with Gray out, Phillips drove the ball to the left-center fence for three bases, and scored on Mills's single to center. West-lake and Roat then hit safe and Shields lifted a long fly to Hogriever. Schaub got a base on balls and McCarthy and Henry singles, which resulted in four more runs. Gray flew to Genins, retiring the side. The visitors picked up their first two runs in the fourth, Genins reaching first on balls and second on Stewart's grounder, which Shields had the very bad judgment to throw to Roat. The latter dropped the ball, but had he held it there was no chance to catch the runner, who was too close to the base. The play resulted in both run-ners reaching base safely. Holohan sacrificed and McCauley hit a long fly to Mc-Carthy, scoring Genins. Stewart came in on O'Rourke's single, and the last-named reached third on Phillips's wild throw to first to catch him off that base, Krauss retired the side on a fly to McCarthy. A base on balls and singles by Mills and Westlake, with a fly to left yielded Indianapolis another run in the fifth. In the last half singles by Killeen and Hogriever, together with Roat's bad throw to first and Genins's safe drive to left added two more to Sioux City's score. Indianapolis promptly wiped these out in the sixth, when Carthy, scoring Genins. Stewart came in wiped these out in the sixth, when Shields's two-bagger and a steal of third, Schaub's base on balls, McCarthy's fly to Camp and Henry's single netted two runs. Watkins's men took on two more in the sixth, when with two out, Krauss reached first on balls; Roat threw Killeen's ground-er wild to first and Hogriever hit to left for two bases. The latter was caught at the plate trying to score on Henry's drop of Roat's throw of Camp's grounder, Henry picking the ball up quickly and retrieving his error by a good throw to the

The seventh was the hardest hitting inning, Mills leading off with a single. Westlake, Schaub, McCarthy and Henry all got singles, Gray a three-bagger and Phillips a double. All this, with a sacrifice by Roat, resulted in six runs. Then Mills came to the bat for the second time in that inning, and again hit the ball safe, this time to left for two bases, scoring Phillips. Westlake got a base on balls, but Roat retired the side by striking out, Mills having gone out early in the inning on the play above alluded to, wherein he was caught on the line and run out. Singles by Genins and Stewart, a bad throw by Mc-Carthy, who let the ball slip out of his hand as he went to field it in, and a wild pitch, together with a base on balls and Roat's must of Krauss's fly, gave the visitors their last three runs in the seventh inning. Slashing three-base drives by Schaub and Henry scored another for Indianapolis in the eighth. In the last half Phillips struck both Hogriever and Camp out, after which Genins made a threebase hit. Stewart, however, flew to Mills ending the inning, and also the game, which was called by the umpire on account of darkness. There were twelve hundred people at the grounds. Score: Indianapolis. A.B. Sloux City Again To-Day. The Sloux City team, which appears to have a "cinch" on the championship, will make its last appearance in this city this season at the East Ohio-street park this afternoon. Pepper will be in the box for the home team, and either Cunnigham or Hart for the visitors. If Indianapolis can win to-day and Grand Rapids should lose there is an excellent chance for the Hooslers to finish in fifth place. The Milwaukee team will begin the last series of the season here to-morrow, playing only two games. The game scheduled for Sept. 25 was played some time ago, so next Monday will wind the season up. The Indianapolis team goes to Milwaukee for a ANOTHER BIG LEAGUE Sunday game.

To-day, to-morrow and Monday will wind up the ball season here. It might be well for Manager Sharsig to put Gray on first and Henry in center. That arrangement would apparently be a better one than yesterday's. President Brush, of the Cincinnati team, thinks there is nothing in the story of Mil waukee having purchased Louisville League franchise. He does not appear to regard the proposed new Eastern League as serious opposition. Comiskey was in the box with President Brush at the game yesterday, sizing up hi recent purchases. Hogriever coached as he never did before in honor of his future captain. Comiskey must have been pleased with Philips's pitching, which was very The Milwaukee management insists or playing Sunday's game up there, saying that to transfer it here would hurt their future prospects in that city. They assure the Indianapolis management that, being the last game of the season at Milwaukee, the attendance will be large. Indianapolis is now pressing Grand Rap ids hard for fifth place, and may pass that team yet. If the Western League directors throw out those two games lost at Grand Rapids, wherein illegal balls were used fifth place is more than likely to fall to Indianapolis. If Sharsig's men keep up their present fast gait they will probably pass Grand Rapids without the aid of the board

o. directors. It is an interesting fight. Kansas City's two defeats yesterday practically settled the championship ques tion, and Sloux City now has the pennan won. Watkins's team can lose the rest of its games and still finish ahead of Kansas City, even should the latter win four of its remaining five, which it is no more likely to do than is Sioux City to lose the next four. PITTSBURG, Sept. 20 .- The report of the formation of a new baseball league was confirmed here to-day. Ez-Manager Buckenberger, of the Pittsburg club, and A. K. Scandrett, ex-secretary of the same organization, when seen, stated that the new league has already been organized, and that the premature publication of the plans can in no way interfere with the arrangements already made. From these men it was learned that the circuit is to be made up of Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Detroit, Providence and Chicago or Buffalo, and that the new organization is to be known as the National Association. The admission to its games will be 25 cents. It is not the intention to fight the National League, but to arrange the schedule of games so as not to conflict Milwaukee to Take Louisville's Place

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 20 .- Manager Barnie, of the Louisville Baseball Club, was in Milwaukee to-day, and practically completed a deal for the transfer of the Louisville National League franchise to this city. Negotiations to this end have secretly been in progress for nearly a year, but final action was delayed until a few weeks ago. President Barnes, of Brooklyn, came to Milwaukee and looked the field over. He stated that he favored the admission of Milwaukee to the National League. His visit was followed to-day by that of Mr. Barnie. He had a long conference with local baseball men. The terms of the transfer were agreed upon, but they have not been made public. No change will be made this season. The Louisville team will play out the National League schedule, and the Milwaukee team will remain in the Western League. Next year, however, Louisville drops out of the National League and Milwaukee takes her place.

Trustees to Be Enjoined from Permitting a Contract to Stand.

The Trustees of Woodruff Place some time ago decided to pave all the driveways in that place with aspnalt and advertised for bids. Bids for the work were submitted by the Western Paving and Supply

Company, Indiana Bermudez Asphalt Company, Warren-Scharf Company and the Fruin-Bambrick Company, of St. Louis, the latter company using land asphalt.

Each of the bids gave a price per square means, after he had knowledge of the bids of the opposing companies the bids of all the companies made known to one another. The St. Louis company has retained Duncan & Smith, and will seek to enjoin the trustees. It was this fact that caused the trustees to stop the CURRENT MAGAZINES. There is nothing especially interesting the Century for this month, though there is the usual variety of stories, sketches, verses and more serious contributions by writers whose names have grown familiar from frequent appearance in the same pages. Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Burton Harrison, Geo. A. Hibbard, Timothy Cole, Richard Watson Gilder, Louise Chandler Moulton, F. Hopkinson Smith and F. Marion Crawford are entertaining in their respective ways, but few writers are perpetually entertaining, and the certainty with which those mentioned and others are to be found in the magazine lends a touch of what seems unnecessary monotony to the monthly bill of fare and brings a shade of weariness to the "constant reader's" soul. Among the con-tributors not mentioned in the foregoing list is J. M. Rice, of Forum and public school fame, who describes school excursions Germany. Jacob A. Rils discourses of the need of playgrounds for city schools. Another batch of letters from various celebrities found among the correspondence of Edgar Allan Poe is given. Subjects dis-cussed editorially are the United States senate and home rule in cities. Among the 'open letters" is one from Evans Woollen. of Indianapolis, in which he sets forth what he believes to be the work of the Commercial Club since its organization. In the list of achievements he mentions the change in the form of the city government, the education of the people as to the value of street improvements, with the result that much paving has been done, and the establishment of a system of sewerage. It will occur to some who read that these works would bave been accomplished had the Commercial Club never existed, but if it chooses to claim exclusive credit what mat-

The New World, the quarterly review of religion, ethics and theology, has in its September issue papers on "Universal Religion," "The Influence of Philosophy on Greek Social Life," "Animism and Teutonic Philosophy," "The Roots of Agnosticism," "The Service of Worship and the Service of Thought," "The Resurrection of Jesus" and "Truth as Apprehended and Expressed in Art." Much space is given to book re-views. Published by Houghton, Mifflin &

The American Historical Register (Philaleiphia) is a monthly magazine issued in the interest of the "patriotic hereditary" societies of the United States, such as the Daughters and Sons of the Revolution, Military Order of the Loyal Legion and Col-onial Dames. The list of these societies is quite long, and shows the extent to which the patriotic feeling is growing. The magazine contains much interesting historical matter as well as data of the various or-

The Review of Reviews for September gives considerable space to a discussion of Japanese and Chinese affairs, one of the special articles relating to political Japan and its leaders. The new Hawalian con-stitution is the subject of another paper. A review of national and State legislation is a feature of the number.

Demorest for October is already out, Besides its fashion and domestic departments it contains a number of literary features of interest, among them a paper on cadet life at West Point, a discussion of co-education by several college presidents, a discourse on theosophy, and several short stories. The magazine is profusely illustrated, some very good portraits of celebrities being among the pictures.

Paper and Press, a trade magazine issued in the interest of the printer's art, is one of the handsomest publications of its kind,

It illustrates in its pages all the fine features of typography, and in addition contains a great variety of information, historical, technical and scientific, relating to the printing trade. The illustrations are numerous and of excellent character. Godey's Magazine, after some severe financial vicissitudes, has taken a new lease of life, and appears in an improved and most attractive form, with a good class tions, Its price has been reduced to 10 An interesting article in the current number of Frank Leslie's Magazine describes the life of students in a great medical college. A description of the making of this magazine, with portraits of Mrs. Les-of literary features and excellent lliustra-lle, the editor, is a feature of the number, Storiettes for September contains eleven original short stories, all of an entertaining sort. The little magazine is now in its second year, showing by this lease of life that a demand exists for fiction in this condensed form. Price, 10 cents a copy.

An Actress's Sermon.

Detroit Free Press.

Della Fox knows all about the vealy mashers who lose their heads over the attractive women of the stage. She has been delivering herself of a sermon, one paragraph of which is in these words: "In my experience on the stage I have seen so many young men make so many different kinds of fools of themselves that I feel am in a position to give them a few points. There is a time in the lives of almost all young men living in a great city when they feel that they would like to meet and know the popular actresses of their time, and the many and absurd schemes devised by them to accomplish this would fill a book, which book, if it is ever written, every fond mamma and anxious papa should possess, and they would find that it would do more towards checking their boys in their career of mad mashing than anything they could say. My advice to young men in this con-nection is, Don't. You had better stay on your side of the footlights. We are a disand training unfit you as much for our life as ours does for yours."
